ROY WEST, CHICAGO MAN, IS APPOINTED TO SUCCEED WORK

New Interior Secretary Coming Here at Once to Learn Duties.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE MEMBER 1912-1926

Management of Deneen Campaign in 1924 Drew Coolidge's Attention.

Superior, Wis., July 21 (A.P.).-Roy O. West, of Chicago, was appointed by President Coolidge today to be Secretary of the Interior, succeeding Hubert Work, whose resignation from the Cabinet was simultaneously accepted.

Mr. West, who is a personal friend of Mr. Coolidge, and who was prominent in the Republican campaign four years ago as secretary of the national com mittee, visited the Chief Executive at the summer White House last week, but at that time, in reply to questions, denied he had been approached with regard to the Cabinet vacancy.

It is expected here that Mr West, who is national committeeman from Illinois, will resign from the positions of vice chairman of the finance committee and member of the executive committee of the national committee,

Work's Hands Now Free Dr. Work, who will now be entirely free to devote all his time to his duties as chairman of the Republican national committee, has wound up as far as possible all matters pending at the interior Department, and Mr. West will find a clean desk upon assuming his new job. With the appoinment of the Boulder Dam Commission of experts it was said here that the last major ques tion awaiting action was disposed of.

Chairman Work tendered his resignion personally to President Coolidge when he called at Cedar Island Lodge shortly after he had been selected successor to William M. Butler as Republican campaign manager Its acceptance When the Secretaryship of the Interior was created in Zachary Tayoffice, which deals with so many office ever since a vacancy at the Interior Department appeared likely. Mr. West's commission however, has not yet been signed, since it has not reached Superior from Washington. Coming Here at Once.

Chicago, July 20 (A.P.),-Roy O. vest, whose appointment as Secretary the third Illinois man to have held Work, was announced by President Coolidge tonight, issued the following statement on his selection as a member of

On the other hand some of the women en were trying to answer the pitiful cries of many children whom they had taken under their care.

The youngsters who were not badly affected aided the women in their efforts at dispensing aid, but the limited accommodations aboard the excursion steamer, and the absence of any adequate supply of medicine made all efforts futile.

Nurses Sent to Wharf.

As soon as the boat was tied up Dr. R-tkoski rushed aboard, but seeing at once that he could not hope to bring order out of the confusion which he encountered, he sent a call for aid back to his hospital.

Eight nurses, all that were available, were rushed to the boatside. In order to send even this meagre complement the hospital was forced to take nurses from floor duty.

With the arrival of the nurses some semblance of order was restored, and under Dr. Rutkoski's direction the patients who could not be taken care of with cursory attention were sent to the hospital.

Emergency Hospital Taxed.

Efforts of those at the hospital were concentrated on clearing the emergency rooms of all patients before the second docking of the Macalester, which took place about 10:30. Their efforts were successful and by the time the steamer was sighted off Hains Point the hospital was ready to receive its second consignment of stricken merrymakers.

Emergency Hospital Taxed.

The influx of about 40 persons, comprising the irst boatload of sufferers, threw Emergency Hospital into temporary confusion. Emergency room was found too small and the dispensary was used. It was crowded with the patients brought in in every condition as rapidly as the ambulances could make the short run to the dock. The ambulance service was supplemented by private cars which brought in many patients.

The confusion attendant upon the large number of patients was heightened by the crowding to the institution of a loved one.

It was some time before the physicians at the hospital determined definitely that the patients were suffering from food polsoning, as it was thought they might have been stricken by the intense heat or the overexertion incident to the outing. This further complicated the treatment.

Diagnosis Speeds Treatment.

Sheehy were the first to arrive.

Shower Scatters Crowd.

A severe electrical shower came up shortly before the boat was due to dock. This sent the crowd scurry g about for shelter. Those cases which were found nost serious were sent from the discussary and emergency room to the wards in the upper floors in order that he receiving wards might be utilized or the large number which it was expected earlier in the evening would be trought back for treatment on the second trip of the Macalester.

Dr. Sweatnam said that the man "probably" was drowned, but he would not say definitely that there had not been murder. The body was so badly decomposed, he said, that it was virtually impossible to make such a definite statement.

Dr. Sweatnam said that he could find no builet holes in the body, nor any indications that the man had been struck over the head.

Unless something happens to alter the plan the body will be buried today in Penny Hill Cemetery, which is maintained by the City of Alexandria. Va. There is a possibility, it was pointed out yesterday, that it will remain unidentified, just as has been the case with many other bodies buried there.

Belt Buckle Possible Clue.

Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, chief of the homicide squad o. the Washington Detective Bureau, said yesterday afternoon that it had been definitely established that the body was not that of Joseph M. Vallin, World War hero, who disappeared from his home here early in May.

In May.
Irvin H. Hollander, 1474 Columbia road northwest, went with Kelly to Wheatley's undertaking establishment in Alexandria yesterday, and, after looking at the body, said he was sure it was not that of Vallin. Hollander is a cousin by marriage to Vallin.

The belt found on the body bore a buckle on which was inscribed the letter "M." This was the only thing the was found that might indicate the man's identity. There were no laundry marks on the shirt or underclothing.

When he came back to Washington Kelly brought along the belt, and also one of the man's shoes and a sample of his shirt. With these Kelly will at-tempt to establish the man's identity. Sought Among Missing.

Until the body is identified and the investigators "get a line" on his friends, no progress can be made toward determining the manner of his death. He may have committed suicide, he may have been accidentally drowned, or he may have been thrown overboard. Gardner Johnson, who owns a farm told the police yesterday that a boat containing three men was seen last week near the spot where the cody was found. The three men, he said, were engaged in a violent quarrel. "The mer, were havin, trouble with the motor of their boat," Johnson said, "and stopped in front of my place. IS ALUMNUS OF U. OF V.

Howard Worth Smith, for the last six years judge of the Corporation Court, of Alexandria, yesterday was appointed judge of the Circuit Court of the Sixteenth Judicial Circuit of Virginia, to succeed Judge Samuel G. Brent, who died in office. The appointment was made by Gov. Harry Flood Dyrd in a telegram which was forwarded to Judge Smith at his summer home at Broad Run, Va.

Judge Smith was not an applicant for the appointment, but it had been generally understood for several weeks that he was being considered for the post by Gov. Byrd and that his appointment would be acceptable to the Bar Associations of Alexandria and the Counties of Arlington, Fairfax and Prince William, which comprise the circuit. Since the death of Judge Brent on May 5 Judge Smith has been serving as judge of the Circuit Court in addition to his duties as Corporation Court judge, and he is therefore no stranger to the attorneys in his circuit. motion filed by Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom.
Gilliom's motion was based on correspondence published between Shumækter and United States Senator James E. Watson which Gilliom said constituted an attempt by Shumaker to influence corruptly a decision of the court favorable to him.

The original sentence imposed on Shumaker was 250 fine and 60 days at the State penal farm. Shumaker was cited for contempt of court in an information filed by Gilliom based on published statements in the American Issue, official Antisaloon League publication in which it was alleged Shumaker charged certain justices of the court with being prejudiced in decisions on liquor appeals.

It had branded Narya, the Arab girl, as a depraved woman of the lowest type, who had given herself for money to a number of different men Men and women all over the world discussed the bronze girl and her wickedness in hushed tones. She had become a symbol for all that was bad.

And yet there was the element of mystery, Because this woman had met accusations with stoic silence, the public began to wonder li there were not a great deal to be said for her. Interest was at fever pitch when at last the plaintiff rested her case and it was the turn of Narya's lawyer to give his client's version of things

Society leaders intrigued for days to get seats for this, which might be called the great scene of the third act. Would the bronze girl be able to prove her innocence? Would she turn on her accuser and throw similar charges against her? For there had been rumors that Mrs. Peter Thurston had been going the Broadway pace for several pairs herself.

Above all, the insatiable public wanted to know now the bronze girl would conduct herself on the stand. Would the thunder of the plaintiff's attorney be able to break through that mask? Certainly the due: between them would be a spectacle worth seeing.

Conduct and Common Sense

BY ANNE SINGLETON= CULTIVATION FOR SHOW.

AM answering a letter, too long to quote, about cultivation. The writer wants to know if there is not more attention paid to it here than in any other country, and also whether discussion clubs and topic classes in which so many women are interested are not the very essence of their mental activity, and, lastly, whether all women should not endeavor to cultivate them selves in this way? Frankly. I don't know how to answer. In so far as clubs and classes stimulate and interest the mind of the already well educated woman, or stimulate and cated, I think them admirable. I have from books would, as one man, vote for only belonged to one in my life and, seldom reads a book, but gets there just seldom reads a book, but gets there just only belonged to one in my life and, sheing young and uppish. I liked belonging to the because it gave men an occasional opportunity to display such cleverness as I thought I possessed But I am sure that any real mental growth comes, not from the desire to show what one knows, out from the real pleasure one takes meself in the knowledge. There's a French expression, "Cultivate your garden," which means that you should sow all the seeds of taste and learning that you can in your own mind. To this, I should add "Cultivate your garden for yourself, not for the market."

We do pay a great deal of attention

the market."

We do pay a great deal of attention to the name and outward appearance of cultivation in this country, but we are less reality cultivated in many ways than the women of other countries. What you love for yourself, what you care to study alone, what you can enjoy by yourself, these are the measures of your cultivated mind. You may share them with others, but it's what they mean to you that counts.

During my talks in schools, I have asked the pupils in many cases to tell me what subject the systolic pressure drops to near so the man is on the verge of a serious condition. A rapid drop to about 60 is very likely to prove fatal. This is about the only condition where low blood pressure threatens life.

The customary treatment of shock consists in the use of heat. A man suffering from shock should lie flat and be kept as quiet as possible, physically and mentally. He should be wrapped in warm, dry blankets or, these being unavailable, in any kind of warm, dry covering. Hot. bricks or something else hot should be applied to his feet and back. That is as far as we need to go for simple shock. In all probability the blood pressure in such a case keeps well above one hundred.

In more severe cases it is proper, when the facilities are at hand, to give a warm, simple enema of plain salt solution. In still more severe cases well above one hundred.

In more plain salt solution is injected under the skin or into the blood vessels. In certain extreme cases the physical operates and tritates the wail of the heart or injects adrenalin into it.

Dr. Preston Wade tells of his experience in a large hospital in treating.

Dr. Preston Wade tells of his experience in a large hospital in treating cases of severe shock in injecting a quart of a 10 per cent solution of dexquart of a 10 per cent solution of dex-trose into a vein and, at the same time, injecting insulin under the skin. The theory of this treatment is that in shock the tissues quit oxidizing or feed-ing. Probably they are fatigued. Maybe they are inactive from the nervous force of the shock. Maybe the blood pressure is so low they can not feed.

When sugar and insulin are given pressure is so low they can not feed. When sugar and insulin are given the latter burns the former and the tissues are bathed in predigested food. Like a sick man being fed by his nurse, all these tissues have to do is to swallow. This method is very well adapted to the first aid rooms in industrial establishmens, where there are crushing injuries; to railroad hospitals, and occasionally to relief trains.

The general run of people must continue to use hot blankets, hot bricks and no fuss.

It's a charming thing of taffets with the sort of neckline that has made the sunburn bathing suit popular. Mitzl chose a printed chiffon for her own costume—one with little bows for shoulder straps and a great deal of fullness in the skirt. Polly wears organdie embroidered and trimmed with flowers. The woman to the right has a taffeta gown that does all that taffeta can be expected to do-it is draped around the hips in folds that are stiff and soft at the same time and puffs out in a tre-

CATHOLICS TERRORIZED BY NUMEROUS ARRESTS

Labor Party Offers Peace to Obregonistas; Calles' Retention Is Urged.

Mexico City, July 20 (A.P.) .- Police and military authorities of Mexico were restrained by the district court today from taking any action against Jose de Leon Toral, slayer of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, for 72 hours.

This action came simultaneously with official announcement that the youth ful art student would be given a public civil trial.

Taken together, the two develop-ments meant that the assassin has at least three days to live. They meant, too, that there will be no summary

Temporary heads of the police department, appointed from among Obregon's close associates in order that they might have a free hand in running down possible backers of Toral, had indicated shortly before the district court acted that they would favor civil rather than military law procedure in the case.

Arrests Kept Secret.

It was understood that in this attitude they were in agreement with leaders in military circles and many administration supporters. There were several additional arrests

There were several additional arrests in connection with the assassination today, but Gen. Antonio Rios Zertuche, chief of police, declined to reveal their identity or to tell how many new prisoners there were. He also refused to give the total thus far arrested.

"The investigation will continue upon the same line that has marked it hitherto—that is, "the responsibility of the Catholic clergy," he said.

Mexican police today continued questioning the friends, relatives and associates of Toral. The authorities continued, in giving out what little information was made available, to accent the charge made by Gen. Antonio Rios Zertuche, new chief of police, "that responsibility for the crime lies with the Catholic elergy."

The police say they have in their possession printed leaflets secretly distributed recently among some Catholics which, they allege, state that the days of Obregon and President Calles are numbered. They assert that the leaflets contain this expression: "Every dog has his day and the day of Obregon draws near." of Obregon draws near

The police also are holding for in stigation in connection with possible light on the assassination a number of Catholics who have been arrested re cently on charges of violating the reis laws by hearing mass in schools private residences. The prisoners lude 15 out of 20 nuns in Villa adeloupe where the Shrine of Our duadeloupe where the Shrine of Our ady of Guadeloupe, patron saint of exico, is situated. The family of the slayer, consisting of the father, Aurelio de Leon; the mother, Maria Toral de Leon; the slay-er's wife, Tazmartin del Campo de Leon, about six other relatives, were still held at police headquarters today.

Newspapers, conducting their own investigations of Toral's past, print a number of assertions respecting his as-sociates in Guadalara. The news-paper Excelsior states that a brother of the slayer is a priest who is presumed t be in hiding. The dispatches add that the killer was a close friend of Either Par Lucra was close friend of Father Pro Juarez who was among the four men executed after the attempt to bomb Gen. Obregon last November. Military authorities today removed from the grave of Pro Juarez a placard ed there during the night and bear-the legend "You are avenged."

The Labor Party, which has abstained bampo is ten miles from Navajoa.

The Labor Party, which has abstained from any demonstration regarding the assassination of Gen. Alvaro Obregon except publicly to repudiate it, today accepted the call of President Calles for harmony and cooperation.

Labor leaders who had maintained an expectant attitude pending the outcome of the police investigation into the slaying made their announcement after Calles' manifesto had "cleared" them of any suspicion of being implicated in the crime.

Jose Lopez Cortes, secretary general of Crom, the Mexican Federation of Labor, reiterated that body's firm adhesion to Calles and its firm decision to continue supporting all the acts of the Calles government.

The Labor party notified the president that it would cooperate for a union of the revolutionary elements in accordance with the Calles' manifesto which was considered an overture of peace to the Obregonistas and as expressing a desire to end the antagonism between the groups. Expressing disapproval of the crime, the statement said that organized labor could neither admit nor tolerate that so savage an outrage should remain shrouded in mystery nor would it permit the author' to be screened by the cloak of "religious fanaticism" or left without punishment.

New York, July 20 (A.P.) .- A carg of alleged prewar rye whisky, estimated to be worth $1,000,000 at retail, was seized today by customs agents on the Red Cross Liner Nerissa The contraband was in kegs under pickled herring which had been brought in lake harrels from Halifax, Nova Scotia. The Nerissa docked in Brooklyn yesterday. Not Asked in Washington. President Coolidge would not be op-posed to such a conference taking place in Paris or in any other Euro-pean capital sooner than in Washing-ton, inasmuch as he realizes that the American city is much further from the capitals of most of the signatory cially in Guadaloupe. Catholic priests of the shrine of Our Lady of Guadaloupe who since the religious laws became effective performed no services, but, dressed as laymen, continued to live in the vicinity, are said to have gone into hiding. Some members of the Knights of Columbus, a number of priests and the Sacristians of the shrine are known to have been questioned by police, but no report of their examination has been made public.

Newspapers declare that all information they can gain points to Toral being a religious fanatic. In certain quarters it is thought this fanaticism might have been played upon by political enemies of Gen. Obregon with the idea of making it appear that the slaying of the president-elect had a religious monitivation. This suggestion was persistent today, but was not confirmed in any responsible quarter.

The application for an injunction restraining the authorities from taking action against Toral was dropped in a mail box by an unidentified person. It was automatically granted when the court decided to "officially inceive" it. The court's action, it was learned, had the approval of the officials in charge of the case, who were anxious to avoid any hasty action.

AN OFFSTAGE FILM COMEDY

The filming of "Lady Be Good," the First National Picture which is this week's major screen offering at The Earle Theater, was unusually interesting for every member of its cast, for it recalled the days of their theater experience before the movies got them. Almost the entire picture takes place backstage in a vaudeville theater, with the principal action in the wings, the dressing rooms and "out in front."

The same waiting about in cold dressing rooms and dingy theaters for rehearsals and the old familiar atmosphere of the theater took the actors back to the days before the moving procurse characteristics.

CONTROL OF CONGRESS.

Gov. Smith has conferred with party asso clates on the subject of the Congress campaign Strenuous efforts will be made to capture the Senate and there are hopes of overturning the Republican majority of 39 in the House.

No doubt Mr. Hoover will devote attention to the same subject.

For the sake of the national welfare it is to be hoped that the party winning the Presidency will also obtain control of Congress. The triumph of either Smith or Hoover will fail to be followed by satisfactory results if he is confronted by an opposition majority in Congress. The Government will be administered, of course, and routine matters will not suffer materially, but nothing constructive can be expected from a quarreling President and Congress.

The absolute control of Congress by one or the other of the great parties, preferably by the party that has elected a President, is a necessity if demagogues and cranks are to be prevented from misusing the balance of power. In the Senate at present one or two cranks have been successful in holding up the public business or in pressing through ridiculous measures as the price of any action at all. A man like Norris, of Nebraska, is capable of great mischief when possessed of the balance of power. When deprived of this, he sinks to his normal level as a mere bore, with out power to betray his party or to carry into effect his stupid attempts to improve upon the Constitution. The country suffers when such cranks obtain a stranglehold upon the legislative throttle. The remedy is to elect a majority of one party or the other, and then to hold it responsible for good government.

PARIS STUDENT CONGRESS.

A decade of such gathelings bespeaks public Interest in the students' congress at Paris next month. An outstanding proposal of the githering will be provision for student relief, especially for the students of afflicted countries like Bulgaria, whose schools, in the earthquake region, have suffered severely. Education is of universal concern. The term has taken on a meaning of responsibility to society, aside from its cultural meaning for the student, to which only the youth of the world is etent to give adequate interpretation This, youth appears bent upon doing.

While not in any sense part of the congress or directly related to it, the "youth movement' of the Old World is by no means to be considered apart from the Paris gathering. This movement, which has spread among the youth of Europe, principally in the schools, finds its centers in conferences here and there, to which the devotees of ideals often travel great distances and under much privation. It can be likened to the concourse of students at the centers of university learning at the dawning of the Renaissance. There is as much working over of the common funds of ideas of society today, due to war catastrophe and scientific discovery, as there was at that time, and youth is lighting its torch at the fires of newly discovered truth. Convention, conformity, and desire to understand the universe are taking on new forms under the pressure of young life upon old borders in an effort to conquer the newer areas of knowledge.

All this is represented in the 'movements which find the youth of the schools meeting at Paris, coming from 30 or 40 lands, and in the migratory gatherings which seek dissemination of ideas and the discovery of truth. The determination of the young people of lands that have experienced upheaval more than this, and of American youth as well, to ferret out enduring facts has been pronounced by those who have given it sympathetic study to be one of the most remarkable efforts at reorientation that has been known for cen-

SYNTHETIC FUEL.

It is timely, in view of the convening of a fuel conference in London next fall, to note the endeavors that are being made in France, in concert with German scientists, to produce synthetic motor fuel. A process for the liquefaction of coal as employed in German industries is deemed the core of the problem which is being worked upon by those who are directly interested in the discovery of a new source of motor fuel. The promoters of the ndustry, which centers in the Comite des Industries Chimiques de France, contemplate making use of plants that manufactured chlorine gas for the war.

In the absence of any hint as to the process, the fact itself is quickening. It is not the first of nature in healing a wound and that per-by a process of liquefaction into a fuel for motor use. The United States is never free of concern to discover new sources of motive power, and oil from shale has been featured as a reserve source that might provide supplies for a long time. If a successful process for liquefaction of coal could be duplicated in this country, there are abundant supplies of material, especially the thin strata coal which lies close to the surface, the strata too shallow for mining and which was scooped up with steam shovels during the wartime coal famine, when such coal had to be utilized.

To devise a process and to make it practically serviceable are two different angles of a problem. Yet there may be commercial merit in the undertaking of the French scientists. The search for new sources of motor fuel is stimulated by the evergrowing consumption by surface vehicles, oil-burning ships and aero-

CONDUCT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

While it is not part of the duty of the Govrnment to insure prosperity, its policies and acts are presumed to be aimed at the promotion of the general welfare. Programs of prosperity may be viewed with suspicion, inasmuch as the basic conditions that control investment and enterprise and labor conditions are not readily ascertainable, and panaceas are apt to be abstract rather than prac-

The merits of such a bill as that introduced by Senator Jones, of Washington, are that it does not seek to feed prosperity at its roots or otherwise to produce magical effects. It rather takes account of the steady work of Government in the expenditure of funds for public works, and proposes that the labor for these works should not be brought into needless competition with that of private employers, as times when labor is in great demand. A reserve fund for public construction is proposed to be set aside, so that when labor is free, through slackened demands in private undertaking, public works can be undertaken on a broader scale and with the employment of larger forces of men.

Some sense of order in the prosecution of public works, with a view to strategic command of the employment of labor, would be on a par with the acumen that is commonly shown by the private employer. There would be in this nothing to suggest a paternalistic type of enterprise, with the State handing out doles at times when labor was restless.

It is most important in advocacy of such business measures as that of Senator Jones, not to depart from the principle of doing the business of the Government in a business-like way. The Government's expenditures must serve no other purpose than necessary construction. But in expending the large sums customarily devoted to rivers, harbors, public buildings and the like, and the vast sams authorized for flood relief, it would be simple good sense not to dislocate the labor market or unbalance the normal scheme of labor employment. At the same time, real service may be rendered the country by stimulating employment at those seasons which from time to time arise when labor may be liberally used in public construction. Conduct of public works from this point of view might well be

TALKING PICTURES.

The American Federation of Musicians which some weeks ago voted a defense fund of $1,500,000 with which to fight the installation of talking motion picture devices in the thea ters of the country, has obtained the "unofficial personal" support of executives prominent among organized stage folk. This week the president of the musicians, J. W. Weber, conferred with representatives of the Actors' Equity Association and the Associated Actors and Artists of America. Both men emphasized the fact that they lacked power to speak for their organizations, but both indicated that they concurred heartily with the stand taken by the organized musicians. This stand is epitomized in the following paragraph from a statement issued by Mr. Weber:

The crisis that confronts us is of artistic not purely industrial concern. This is not just another instance of workers striving narrowing of dramatic and musical de velopment) through the displacement of standard art forms by a mechanical device. If this is to be so the culture of art in our country, now the musical center of the world, will be seriously affected.

But what can the Federation of Musicians, even if it is able to muster the support of actors' associations, do about it? The final choice rests with the public. If it approves of the "talkies," as synchronized motion pictures have come to be known, nothing can or should prevent their introduction into every theater in the country. If the public disapproves, that will be the end of the matter.

There are indications that the public will like the talkies. Bernard Shaw made a synchronized movie a month or so ago that has been greeted enthusiastically wherever shown. For the first time, New York dramatic critics pointed out, the public has been able to get acquainted with Shaw. Had the talking movie process not been developed Shaw would have remained an unknown figure to millions that now feel as though they have met him. seems hardly likely that the talking pictures will supplant the drama, but under certain circumstances they do what otherwise would

With a persistence that must eventually win a complete victory, the foes of cancer are pressing investigation into every avenue, bent upon leaving no stone upturned to find the cause of the malady, while others are as steadily bent upon discovering newer methods of treatment. The lines of enterprise are not separate. Many of the scientists, if not all, who are seeking the source of cancer are doing their best in the meantime to make contribu tions toward allaying its ravages. Cause and cure are linked in an inevitable relationship. British Empire cancer conference is making definite contributions to the body of theory as to the cause of cancer, and, while there is no common mind as yet among them, they were proposing lines of investigation that are promising, each in its way.

The most interesting to the layman is that which sets up a comparison between the action verted action which causes cancerous growths. Dr. James B. Murphy, of the Rockefeller Institute, states his belief that cancer is a ferment in the tissues, and that it is not caused by virus. He believes that it exists normally in the tissues and is the growth-producing element; he claims to have extracted it from the tumors of chickens. His line of attack is that of giving study to the question of healing by nature, as he believes that the same ferment that is prepared by nature for this need is that which under some conditions of irregulation is active when there is no healing to be done. It is this seeming perversity of the ferment which in his view causes can-

This hypothesis of Dr. Murphy and his associates crosses the lines of that announcement made three years ago by Gye and Barnard that they had determined that cancer was caused by living external virus. It is evident that methods of treatment would be radically different according to the correctness of the one view or the other. Yet the hopeful factor is that in either case, the treatment may, after all, turn out to be very much simpler than has been thought, and some one may happily stumble upon it, while the experts are settling the issue as to the cause of

SEEKING THE FIRST HUMANS.

In view of the fact that Africa has never experienced a glacial era, according to geologists, that continent presents the best field for exploration into the earliest human origins of any part of the globe. This is the belief of Dr. C. Ernest Cadle, who is heading the party of anthropologists bent upon finding the interlinked series of the processions of human life. The theory that cataclysmic upheavals have from time to time upset the checker board of human races and perhaps erased absolutely all signs of the existence of the earliest peoples, has caused much of the data of archeologists and biologists to be received with a grain of salt by those who are hard to convince that the footsteps of man upon the sands of time have found indelible imprint in strata and that his bones have lived after him.

It seems that in Africa may possibly be found the earth's oldest inhabitants, those whose ancestry would make the ancestry of even Asiatic peoples seem modern in compari son. For, Dr. Cadle and his associates hold that the Bushmen, those strange dwarfs, are in direct line with very early eras if not the very earliest of the race, and that they carry with them in their arm, longer than those of other human beings by 8 inches, evidence of anthropoid descent, while preserving in their Mongolian color and features evidence of a beginning back of that of any of the negroid

The real ape-man is the objective of this party. The reasoning is clear, that if Africa has experienced no glacial alterations of climate and conditions of human dwelling, there, if anywhere, should be discovered traces of the first humans. These intrepid believers in evolution do not seek fossils, but living epistles of the theory that man owes his origin to the lower orders. It is an audacious en deavor, and perhaps the scientists have taken account of the fact that even though Africa escaped glacial overwhelming, it may not have escaped the back-wash, so to speak, inasmuch as the Sahara Desert is testimony that at one time the sea covered Africa, and that the Mediterranean is but a pool left in the wake of the receding waters. It is difficult to decipher the "surge of Time in its timeless flow."

JOBS FOR VETERANS.

Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., of New York, chairman of a presidential advisory committee engaged in studying methods whereby war veterans may be aided in obtaining Government jobs, is of the opinion that the civil ervice rules should be broadened so that those who served in the Army might have better preferential status than they enjoy at the present time. His committee met the other day in New York to hear testimony regarding the employment of veterans by the Shipping Board, the New York City postoffice and the Immigration Service at Ellis Island. Representatives of the Shipping Board testified that of 126 men and 54 women on the payroll 50 were ex-serv ce men and three were ex-service women. Four hundred and thirty-three of the 16,700 employes in the New York postoffice would not have qualified for their positions had they not been granted preferential ex-service status, and 95 of the 366 men employed at Ellis Island were former service men, although none of them was disabled.

There is general agreement that disabled service men are entitled to first call upon all Government jobs that they can fill. These men were made incapable of filling their prewar jobs. Testimony presented before the committee indicates that in principle it is recognized that the ex-service man deserves preferential treatment. Employment, however, is expressed in hundreds, whereas the ex-service men number thousands.

There are numerous positions in which the disabled ex-service man could be used to advantage. As a guard, guide or clerk his disabilities should not stand in the way of his efficiency. The fly in the ointment, however, is the fact that practically all Government jobs are already filled. It is hardly fair to displace a man summarily so that another can be given his job. As new positions are available the disabled ex-service man should be given first call. Whatever scheme is evolved by Representative Fish's committee to bring this about will meet with popular approval.

For the first time in history an Alaskan fishing company will use an airplane for the purpose of spotting schools of salmon and another will use a high-speed sea sled for similar work. Once the fish are spotted, modern motorized fishing fleets will be dispatched to the scene and the fishermen will go out in power dories. Increased speed and higher efficiency in fishing are needed, it is pointed out, to offset increased governmental regulation of the industry. Possibly, however, increased governmental regulation will be found necessary to offset the inroads upon fish resources caused by the use of efficient, high-speed fishing methods. Apparently an endless circle has been will be no easy task to discover how fish resources can be maintained without at the same time impairing the fishing in-

Inactivity in the stock market is pleasing to banking interests who feel that stock trading should be held down until further liquidation of credit tied up in the bond market has taken place. However, the latter movement is making substantial progress, which was reflected in a decrease of $145,000,000 in rediscount at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, during the week ending July 18. But rediscounts for the system as a whole still stand at $1,011,000,000, against $403,000,000 at this time last year.

Leading bankers believe a further decrease should take place in this item over the next four weeks to strengthen credit conditions for the heavy demand incidental to fall business expansion.

One of the few outstanding features of today's market was the strength of Montgomery Ward, which has been ascending steadily since its reaction following the raising of the Chicago rediscount rate to 5 per cent. The stock was pushed to a new peak price for all time today at 167½ and closed at 166½, a net advance of 3½ points on a turnover of 84.500 shares.

Another high spot was Warner Brothers Pictures A, which was twirled into new high ground for the year at 543, held all its expan and closed at Ada, coling 60.

As was the case yesterday, the steels constituted the strongest group movement. Elsewhere trading was decidedly irregular. The rails were dull, with price changes usually of a fractional character.

General Motors moved over about a 3-point range, closing fractionally in the minus line, while most of the independent motors made small net gains. Hupp was the strongest of the lot, advancing 1% points net in a turnover of 38,200 shares. The oils were quiet, paying very little attention to the petroleum institute's report of a frop in oil stocks during June.

Trading throughout the session reflected almost wholly the give and take of professionals, who for the time hear.

weekly trade reviews which tow of the acceleration to certain lines coming with more seasonable weather. Some of the motor shares were heavy as a result of the smaller production reported for June, as compared with May. The Canadian dollar received the greatest attention in foreign exchange dealings here again today when the rate displayed further strength, the discount impreving 3-32 per cent to 4/2 per cent discount.

The betterment generally was attributed to the easier tone of the money market in New York, plus the announcement that gold was being shipped from Canada, $1,000,000 haying been received today by the Canadian Bank of Commerce. In the major groups of currencies dealings were quiet and irregular. Sterling dipped 1-16 cent and guilders lost 24/2 points. Scandinavians lire and Swiss francs yielded small fractions as French and subsequently and pessetas imfrancs yielded small fractions as French francs, reichsmarks and pesetas im-proved slightly. Japanese yen advanced 15, while Hongkong fell 15 points.

Money Situation Disappoints Traders; Rails Are Especially Heavy.

MEXICAN ISSUES RALLY S

New York, July 20 (A.P.).—Bond prices were allowed to slide today. Traders evidently were disappointed in the unexpectedly small reduction in brokers' loans and a slight easing of the rate on time money, for which there was little demand, had little ef-

Week-end liquidation also tended to force prices downward, while the continued uncertainty of the credit situation, as well as the intense heat, evidently kept many traders from the bond room. The volume of sales barely exceeded $7,000,000.

The Associated Press complined every sceeded $7,000,000.

The Associated Press combined average price of 20 rails, 10 public utilities and 10 industrials dropped to 96,63, the lowest of the year, as compared with 97,64 a month ago and 97,33 a year ago.

Rails especially were under pressure today, with Delaware & Hudson 4s, the "Big 4" Issue of '91, Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton 4½, Scaboard Air Line 4s, and others dropping 2 to 7 points to new lows for the year. In the face of the general decline, however, National Railways of Mexico 4½s advanced more than a point.

Industrials were irregular. General Asphalt 6s sagged to a new low and Standard Oil of New York 4½s touched the previous minimum. Liquid Carbonic 6s rose more than 3 points and gains were shown also by Otis Steel 6s, U. S. Steel 5s and Inland Steel 4½s, all of which reflected the buoyancy of steel stocks. Utilities generally sought lower levels.

The foreign list was firm, with Mexican government issues recovering some lost ground.

United States Government bonds, with the exception of Treasury 3½s and 3%s, extended their recent gains.

World Air Convention Planned by Kellogg

(Associated Press.)

Invitations to 55 nations from President Coolidge, as authorized by Congress, to send one or more delegates to an international conference on civil aeronautics at Washington December 12 to 14 have been issued by Secretary Kellogs. The conference will be held in connection with the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first airplane flight by Orville and Wilbur Wright at Kitty Hawk, N. C.

Hawk, N. C. Information also was sent to the Information also was sent to the foreign governments that the aero-nautical industry of the United States has arranged to hold an international aeronautical exhibition in Chicago the week preceding the Washington conference.

WESTFIELD, N. J., July 20 (A.P.).

ESTFIELD, N. J., July 20 (A.P.).
Tommie Armour, professional from the Congressional Country Club, in Washington, won the twentyfirst annual Metropolitan open golf championship over the Shackamaxon Country Club Course today with a score of 278, ten under par. for the 72 holes.
Armour's total equals the record for the championship, established in 1914, at Scarsdale by Macdonald Smith, who is now pro at the Lakeville Golf and Country Club, Great Neck, Long Island.
In winning Armour displaced as Metropolitan open champion the man who this year succeeded him as national open titleholder, Johnny Farrell.
Farrell finished second with a score of 280.

After being nine shots behind Armour on the first day. Farrell made a remarkable uphill light in defense of his title. For his next three rounds, after a 75 for the first day, the national champion was 34—31—488. 34—34—68. and 34—35—69. He came to the last hole late this afternoon with a 4 left for his sixth consecutive 9-hole score of 34.

A well-played approach from the rough hit short of the green and rolled to the fringe of grass behind the green, and a weak chip that followed caused him to take a 5.

Anthony Manero, young New York professional, finished fourth with 291, two strokes under Gene Sarazen, former open champion, who was fifth. MacDonald Smith was sixth with 295. Tied at 297 for the last four places in the money were five professionals.

They were Jim Barnes and Cyril

Walker, former national open champions; Bob MacDonald, of Chicago, twice former holder of the Metropolitan open title: Bill Mehlhorn, former Western open champion, and Tom Creavy, of the Bonnie Briar Club, Billy Burke, North and South champion, and Jack Forrester, of Balusrol, tied at 298. The only others under 300 were Dan Williams, the home course pro, and Craig Wood, of Forest Hill.

The first amateur was George Dawson, formerly of Chicago, now a representative of the Westchester Biltmore Country Club, Rye, N. Y. His total was 302. Albert Broderick, former New York amateur champion, was 305, and George Voight, North and South amateur title holder, was 309.

The absence of Big Bill's potent racket and dominant personality robbed the opening day of some expected thrills, but did not prevent the Americans from exhibiting an attack and generalship that overwhelmed the Italians, all but extinguishing their hopes of reaching the challenge round next week for the

The result of today's play, giving The result of today's play, giving the Yankees a commanding lead, necessitates only one additional victory to clinch the series and earn the right to play the French holders of the cup. Betting tonight favored the youthful pair of Hennessey and George Lott to settle the issue in the doubles tomorrow.

If anything, the loss of their captain and ace who was dropped from the team virtually on the eve of the matches, charged with violating the amateur player-writer rule, appeared to inspire the Americans whose play exceeded anything they have shown so far this year and also surpassed the fondest hopes of their followers.

The solemn-faced Tiden, occupying a seat in the front row of the stands, was among the first to congratulate Hunter, after his sweeping victory and also Hennessey, who displayed his customary fine fighting spirit, brilliant court craft and a baffling change of pace in defeating the powerfully built baron in the most spectacular match of the day.

Whereas Hunter, driving with beau-he day, hereas Hunter, driving with beau-precision, smothered Gaslinin in le-sided and coloriess match, Hen-ey gave the galiery only thrills by sively outplaying the baron.

The titled Italian led in the first set, 4—2, and in the second set, 5—3, where he was three times within one point of taking the set, but lacked the finishing punch to capitalize each advantage. The turning point of the match came in the ninth game of the second set, where Hennessey, after seemingly tiring and losing control, staged a magnificent comeback.

Trailing by 15-49, the American the set, but he never faltered. He sed the score to deuce twice and

The flight plans have been perfected and next Thursday morning Bernt Balchen, expert mechanic and relief pilot on Commander Richard Byrd's transatiantic flight last summer, will fly Tunney to New York.

Balchen will be forced to land and take off from the links of the Hamilton Country Club, where the plane that carried Bernard Gimbel, James I. Bush, Charles V. Bob and Samuel Pryor was wrecked on Wednesday. This mishap failed to impress the champion.

It even served to stiffen his deter-nination to fly, though he has only een in the air but once, when he ew from Stroudsburg to Philadelphia or his first fight with Jack Dempsey, when he won his title.

Sorrell Forces in Two, Tying Score; Cronin Gets 2 Hits.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH (Sports Editor of The Post).

THE Nats are accumulating a winning streak, and to that end yesterday recorded their second consecutive victory, safely holding sixth place in the league. They broke out in a rash of hitting against the Tigers, who absorbed a 7-to-4 beating with the element of surprise figuring largely. Surprise followed surprise. The Nats fielded flawlessly behind the helpful pitching of Sam Jones, and in a couple of innings they hammered the ball in a manner smacking of the New York Yankees. Included in the items were three nice triples and two doubles, all of which helped to put the Tigers down for the count.

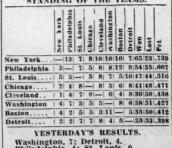

The Nats bludgeoned their way to THE Nats are accumulating a win

The Nats bludgeoned their way to victory after a session of watchful waiting which enabled them to tie the score in the fifth inning. There was danger that the winning streak would be fractured until Victor Sorrell, the Tigers' pitcher, relieved the tension in the fifth inning with an absolute disregard for the position of the plate, first filling the bases and then forcing the tying two runs across with a protracted exhibition of wildness.

With the bases still fully populated in the fifth, Elam Vangilder relieved Sorrell and put down the rally, but in the next two innings the Nats relieved Vangilder of five runs, which proved a sufficiency.

The Tigers were unable to con entrate on Sam Jones, scoring their four runs in groups of one Despite the two-run lead he yield-ed, Jones was always a puzzle and had the happy faculty of being able to bear down at the proper mo-ment.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST HERWOOD FOREST, Md., July 20
—Washington golfers almost monopolized the invitation tournament which began today on the Sherwood Forest course. Of the 131 players who teed off from early morning until late this afternoon, 55, or nearly one-half the field, were from the District.

A. L. Houghton, of the Manor Club, won the medal for low gross score with a card of 75, while the five players who negotiated the qualifying round under 50 were all from the National Capital. Not only this, but ten of the contentants who qualified in the championship sixteen were Washingtonians.

Houghton's victory today, in winning the low gross score, was the third time that he has accom-plished the same feat this season, for he was the medalist both at the Washington and Columbia Club

International Tennis Heads Sympathize With 3 Contests Scheduled; Banished American Ace-French Permitted to Write for Pay.

PARIS. July 20 (A.P.). — Developments in the Tilden case were placed in the background by today's competition, but possibilities of Big Bill's restoration to amateur standing in the event the United States reaches the challenge round were discussed in semiofficial tennis circles. The silence of Samuel H. Collom, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, and Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the Davis Cup committee, gave no foundation for such discussion, but it is understood that undercover moves have been started designed to straighten out the situation and restore Tilden to competition as suddenly as he was removed the day before the interzone finals.

A confab of international tennis authorities is expected to take place here tomorrow to decide the next move here, assuming the Americans will clinch victory over the Italians.

The popular attitude in Tilden's favor was reflected especially in the spontaneous greeting accorded him on entering the stadium and taking his seat this afternon.

"I have no further addition to make to my statement of yesterday," declared Tilden today.

"Whatever my friends do is their business. I stand in my position. I do not intend to make any move before"

Changing balls every seventh game Hunter remarked to Wear, "I am trying to make it easy and confine each set to seven games." He succeeded except in the last set in which he lost none.

Tilden is to play on the center court tomorrow. Regardless of developments, he has agreed to a singles exhibition match with Junior Coen after the doubles contest in which George Lott and John Hennessey oppose De Mornurgo and Gaslini.

THE Lincoln Post team and the Boya Club Standards of the Henry C. Spengler Post will clash today at 8 o'clock on the Piaza in one of the three games in the Legicn play-off series.

This action was necessary when at a late hour last night two teams, namely, U. S. S. Jacob Jones and the Jane A. Delano Post team, found that they could not play. With several players away on a vacation, the U. S. S. Jacob Jones team could not muster its full strength and decided to drop from the series. With only nine men, who could possibly be named eligible, the Jane A Delano Post was placed in a tight place and when four of these nine men failed to furnish proof to substantiate their ages this team was dropped from consideration, leaving only six teams to play for the right to represent Washington in the country-wide junior basen ball program the Legion.

Cronin to Get Long Trial; Hadley Takes Turn Today

Moriarity probably will call on Ken Holloway.

Joe Cronin's trial at shortstop likely will be continued for several days; in fact, his use is necessary in view of the spike-wound which Jack Hayes received in the first game of Thursday's double-header and because of a bruised knee which Bob Reeves received while taking batting practice before yesterday's game. This leaves the Nationals without any available infield substitutes.

Marty McManus, who has been playing first for the Tigers for the past few days, covered third yesterday. He is proving himself a mighty handy man for Moriarty to have around. Bill sweeney covered first and came near being injured on his very first chance when he fell into a field box while snaring Harris' foul fly. presence of Bill Clymer in the ball park when he apparently had no business there. In the instance of the disallowed protest the Buffalo manager nad been removed from the bench by the umpire, but later was found in the park. The umpire, Mr Toole said, had the option of forfeiting the game but since had had not done so, his judgment would not be questioned by the league but returned to the park in the course of the second game of the double header on June 12. This protest Mr. Toole allowed.

In three years with The Washington Post, Bill Page built up such a reputation among theatrical magnates that New York virtually "bid him out of his job," as Charles Dillingham once expressed it. Mr. Page went to Broadway to become, in time, the highest paid press agent the City of Bagdad on the Subway ever knew. He worked, at various times, for Flo Ziegfeld, "glorifying the American girl;" for Dillingham, for Morris Gest and for almost every great producer in theatricals His services were in constant demand. He trouped the United States in cis capacity of theatrical exploiter, and frequently went abroad to introduce American plays and players to foreign theater goers.

Last year the name of Will A Page appeared on the cover of a book that created a sensation on both sides of the Atlantic—and later was suppressed It was titled "Behind the Curtain." and professed to be an expose of Broadway's beauty trust. Therein, Mr. Page purported to give away the secret of how unknown chorus girls are made overnight into nationally famous beauties.

Not only did Mr. Page bring down the wrath of certain choriness about his head but he tilted lances with no less a celebrity than George Bernard Shaw who sued the American for $100,000. Shaw claimed that Mr. Page had reproduced a letter without permission. Imogene Wilson, the celebrated Broadway beauty who figured in the marital difficulties of Frank Tinney, the comedian, was next to fall in line with a lawpeared from the public marts.
